- Enrolments, passes and certificates
- Job role, workplace and regional breakdowns
- User ratings and key feedback
- What learners liked and what could improve
- Recommendation score

Face-to-face sessions

Bespoke in-person training sessions, built around local needs and designed to complement the online programme, provide a fully blended learning experience. Sessions can focus on troubleshooting, practical skills, role-play, case studies and any specific training needs within your local authority or region.

Dedicated learning platform

Perfect for regions seeking local tailoring or wider workforce development integration.

Features can include:

- Local resource libraries and signposting
- Enhanced regional data reporting
- Capacity to expand your local training portfolio

Additional digital training modules

For areas seeking a broader, integrated training offer, we can create bespoke digital modules aligned to your local public health priorities.

Popular topics include:

- Smoking cessation
- Alcohol intervention
- Healthy weight and nutrition
- Behaviour change and brief interventions

Marketing to providers

Take the pressure off and allow us to promote your new training service directly to providers in your area. We'll also identify where follow-up reminders or additional communication are needed to boost engagement.
